

A detailed architectural rendering of a modern, multi-story glass skyscraper at dusk. The building's facade is a grid of dark frames holding large glass panels, through which interior floors and a central atrium are visible. The sky is a deep twilight blue. In the foreground, a lush outdoor courtyard with a green lawn and paved walkways is populated with people in professional attire. To the left, a lower building with a wooden facade and a large tree is partially visible. The overall scene conveys a sense of a vibrant, modern workplace environment.
